MAYOR GAYNOR DIES ON OCEAN

Demise, it is Said, Was Due Indirectly to Assassin's Bullet.

AFFECTED HIS HEART.

Deceased Was Accompanied by His Son Rufus Gaynor, on White Star Liner Baltic.

New York, Sept. 11.—Word was received at city hall today that Mayor Gaynor died of heart failure on the steamship Baltic yesterday afternoon.

Mayor Gaynor sailed for Europe Thursday. He was in a very weak condition and taken aboard the boat secretly.

On his last previous boarding of a ship he was shot by an assassin and this was announced as the reason for the secrecy of his departure.

Secretary Robert Adamson received the following wireless:

"On board the Baltic, via. Crookhaven—"Father died Wednesday at 1 o'clock. Death due to heart failure. Notify mother. RUFUS GAYNOR."

Mayor Gaynor's death was indirectly due to the bullet which James J. Gallagher fired into his neck in August, 1910, on board the Kaiser Wilhelm, in Hoboken.

The bullet lodged in his neck and gave him great discomfort. Recently he had suffered from it, having repeated fits of vomiting, which weakened his heart and generally broke him down. He had been forced to remain at his country home much of the time.

Rufus Gaynor, the mayor's son, was the only member of his family that accompanied him on his voyage.

Gaynor had been renominated September 3, in one of teh most remarkable demonstrations in the history of New York. A crowd estimated at 20,000 gathered in city hall square and proclaimed him an independent candidate to run against Tammany. The mayor was then so weak that it was necessary for his speech to be read to the throng while he sat in an arm chair on a balcony overlooking the crowd.

The mayor's campaign cry was to have been:

"I have been mayor."

He recently issued a statement referring to the difficulties he had been confronted with as mayor, including what he said had been the bitter opposition of bosses who wished to plunder the city. He said:

"But I have been mayor."

This was supposed to typfy the strength with which Gaynor claimed to have resisted all efforts to influence him.

The White Star line here received a message from the Queenstown tonight and merely announcing that the mayor had died. It is expected that the body will be taken to Liverpool.

IN MEMORIAM.

MAPPLE—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear mother, MELVINDER MAPPLE.

As the evening sun is setting
Ofttimes as we sit alone,
In our hearts there comes a feeling
If our dear mother could only come home.

Mother, we are sad and lonely
Since you have gone from us,
And it seems there is no pleasure
In this dreary world for us.

Just one year ago today we laid you to rest,
And folded your dear cold hands upon your breast.
In silence you suffered, in patience you bore
Until God called you home to suffer no more.

You were a tender, loving mother,
A mother kind and true,
A mother and friend who would never shirk
Whenever a kind act you could do.

—By Her Loving and Devoted Children.

Mrs. Charles B. Marshall, who has been visiting in Harrisburg, Pa., has returned to her home, "Goodview," on the Potomac.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Calmly bidding his family good-by, Robert R. Mothershead, an ice wagon driver, of Washington, walked to Stephenson's wharf, at the foot of L street southwest, yesterday afternoon and plunged into the river in the sight of scores of passengers on the steamer Northland, which was at the dock about to leave. He was taken from the water within fifteen minutes, but efforts to revive him with the pulmotor were unsuccessful.

Betram Speiss, the 3-year-old son of Mrs. Anna C Speiss, of 1529 Columbia street northwest, Washington, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon, when a heavy stone marking one of the graves in St. Mary's Cemetery, fell upon him, and crushed his skull. The child was hurried to the Homeopathic Hospital, where he died an hour later.

Manuel M. de Zamacona Inclan, the man of mystery in the Mexican situation, reached Washington yesterday afternoon, and remains, at least officially, a man of mystery. Mr. Zamacona continues to describe his visit as one of a purely personal nature. At the White House and the Department of State there is no pretense of its being so considered, but no engagement has yet been made for the "confidential agent" of Provisional President Huerta to see either the Secretary of State or President Wilson.

Two men were killed, one instantly, and three others were so badly scalded and burned that they may die, when boiler No. 1, in the boiler room of the torpedoboat destroyer Craven, en route from Charleston to Savannah, burst at sea yesterday afternoon.

The thigh of a woman found floating in the surf in front of Morris' pavilion at Keansburg, N. J., is believed by the authorities of Hudson county, New Jersey, to belong to the dismembered girl's body, of which the torso has been recovered in two parts from the Hudson.

URGED TO EAT MORE OYSTERS.

Virginia Planters And Packers Think This Will Help Solve Cost of Living.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 11.—At a meeting of the Virginia Oyster Planters and Packers' Association, held here yesterday, steps were taken to begin a campaign to urge people to eat more oysters. It was also brought out that there was no profit in oysters shipped from Virginia for less than $1 or $1.25 per gallon. This, it is thought, will be the prevailing price this season.

An invitation was received from Bridgeport, Conn., inviting the Virginia Association to send a special committee to attend a convention to be held in Bridgeport on September 15, that being the date for opening the season in Virginia. It was found impossible to send a committee. At the Bridgeport convention a vigorous campaign will be inaugurated urging people to eat more oysters. It is claimed that the eating of more oysters and less meat will help solve the cost of living. The Virginia Association, in discussing the oyster as a panacea, promulgated the following:

"If you want your parents to live long and happily, ask them to eat oysters.

"If you want your wife to remain young and pretty, coax her to eat oysetrs.

"If you want to be a successful business man, eat oysters.

"Virginia oysters that you know are pure and wholesome and the kind you want."

Death of Strikebreaker.

Plattsburgh, N. Y. Sept. 11.—Jas. Farley, the noted strikebreaker, and at one time the only man who ever made a profession of breaking up strikes with strong arm methods, died at his home here early today

Farley was 39 years old. He ran away with a circus at the age of 15, and later become a hotel manager. His first work of strike breaking was on the great Brooklyn strike in 1895. Later he went all over the country breaking strikes.

Since he was stricken with tuberculosis Farley has feared an attempt on his life and had an armed guard of ten men.

CURRENCY BILL TO BE RUSHED

Conditions in Senate And House Portend Speedy Action.

DEBATE NEARLY OVER

Democratic Leader Puts Through Rule Accelerating Disposition of the Measure.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Action at both ends of the Capitol today assured currency legislation at this session of Congress. Leader Underwood forced votes in the House that will make good his promise to the President to put the bill through that body in the next ten days.

A conference at the White House between the President and the Senate steering committee stopped all talk of a recess of Congress and postponement of the question until next December.

Mr. Underwood got through a rule in the House today that all general debate on the currency bill shall end Saturday, the measure to be taken up Monday next for general amendment. Mr. Underwood and Chairman Glass of the Banking Committee, told the House that if any member could show that a change in the bill, without affecting its principles, would be of advantage, it should have fair consideration.

Minority Leader Mann attempted to put obstacles in the way of limiting debate, and charged the Democrats with "rushing" the proposed legislation. In his efforts, Mr. Mann was aided by Victor Murdock, Bull Moose leader, but their fight ended with the recorded vote that adopted the special rule.

Chairman Glass defended the bill and Minority Leader Hayes, of the committee, criticized some of its features but admitted it contained much that was good.

After coming from the White House, Chairman Owen, of the Senate Committee, said the bill would be reported to the Senate by his committee within a week after the measure has been passed by the House. He was firm in his opinion that currency legislation would receive affirmative action in both Houses, and go to the President for his approval by November 1st.

The President told the senate steering committee that he would not agree to a recess of the Senate.

RIDES STORM IN BALLOON.

Woman on Army Dirigible Tells of Perils High in Air.

New York, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Emma Walter, of Philadelphia who has arrived on the North German Lloyd liner Neckar, brought with her terryfying memories of a ride in a German army dirigible, whren her couing Lieut. Rudolph Ziegler, of the German army air corps, obtained permission for her to accompany him on a map-making flight.

"I was enjoying myself thoroughly," she said, "until the Lieutenant sighted a black thunder storm rapidly coming toward us. He threw out sand ballast so we could go above the storm. We went up and up until we were high over the clouds, but we went so far that I became dizzy and asked him to go down.

"In opening the valve he tore the gas bag so that we went down too fast and dropped into the middle of the storm. Lightning was crashing above and below us. It seemed certain that the balloon would be struck and explode. My cousin threw out sand again and again, but the rip grew wider and we kept about in the middle of the storm directly with it. When we dropped we caught in the top of a tall tree. Farmers near us were frightened and ran away, and it was an hour before any found courage to help us down.

"We had drifted 150 miles and had looked death in the face. I have no desire to go up in any kind of an air machine again."

Oyster season now open at Rammel Cafe.

FIRE LAST NIGHT.

Unoccupied Frame House Said to Have Been Set on Fire.

The alarm of fire about half-past eleven o'clock last night was caused by the discovery of a blaze in an unoccupied frame house formerly used as a storehouse on the northeast corner of Commerce and West streets. It was partially destroyed before the flames were extinguished.

There is every reason to believe that the fire was started by an incendiary.

STUDY INSIDE VESUVIUS.

Scientists Examine Crater And Predict a Great Outburst.

Naples, Sept. 11.—Professor Mercalli, director of the observatory of Mount Vesuvius, together with several professors of the University of Munich, accomplished a daring descent into the crater of the volcano yesterday. They remained inside the carter two hours studying, in the midst of asphyxiating gases, new volcanic activity.

The descent into and ascent from the inner regions of the mountain occupied eight hours and the scientists consider that a great reawakening of the volcano is approaching.

FIND HARBOR OF POMPEII.

Seach of Centuries Ends With Discovery by Sculptor.

Naples, Sept. 11.—The exact size of the harbor of Pompeii, for which search has been made for centuries, has been discovered by the sculptor Lorenzo Cozza, who has for years continued the investigations of his late father. The harbor is 1250 yards inland, from the beach as it at present exists, and 700 yards from the gate of Pompeii.

FOR ACTUAL SERVICE ONLY.

Teachers of Science of War Not Entitled to Medals.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 11.—The State Military Board met Tuesday evening and considered the request of certain officers connected with State military colleges for medals for serving in the statemilitia. The board ruled that the service medals issued to the Virginia volunteers, marking the length of actual service in the state militia, can only be issued for actual service rendered and that state military college service is only to be considered in connection with actual service in the state militia.

For many years the professors and subprofessors of the Virginia Military Institute have held military titles, though their exact military standing was somewhat vaguely defined. By an act of the General Assembly the state military professors have been declared officers of the state militia, with commissions issued by the Governor through the adjutant-general's office. But when it comes to issuing medals the State Military Board decided that it was the object and intent of those medals to mark active service in the militia, without in anyway questioning the value of services rendered the state by the instructors in military schools.

The board ordered the Virginia Beach rifle range placed under the charge of a caretaker until such time as the grounds will again be used by the State troops.

Captain J. C. Bodow, of Roanoke, and Captain Harry Wall, of Norfolk, members of the Medical Corps, were named delegates to the convention of military surgeons of the United States which convenes at Denver, Col., September 16.

San Francisco.—Francis Burton Harrison, the governor general of the Philippines, sailed yesterday on the Manchuria for Manila

Chicago—A fire of mysterious origin destroyed the shops of the nickle Plate railroad in South Chicago. The loss was estimated at $600,000.

Chicago.—Jewels said to be valued at more than $100,000 were stolen from teh home of a millionaire resident of Winnetka, a North Shore suburb, it was learned today.

Jamaica, L. I.—A. S. Bebef was held in $1,000 bail by Magistrate Voorhees for spanking his wife with a heavy shoe.

SENATE CHANGES TO TARIFF BILL

House Will Vigorously Oppose Amendments to Measure.

WANTS SPECIAL RULE.

Underwood Says Such Expedient Will Be Resorted to in Order to Hasten Action.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Bitter resistance is to be made by the House Democrats to the Senate amendments to the Underwood tariff bill.

The House will try to force the Senate into a declaration of its right to change a revenue measure, through amendment, which measure must by constitutional provision be originated in the House.

President Wilson forced the Senate changes in the tariff bill. Without criticizing the Underwood bill he permitted the House Democrats to go on record in its support. His amendments were incorporated in the Senate through Senator Simmons, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

The Senate made 676 amendments to the House bill. There will be no objections to any of these amendments, by the House except such as reduce revenues. Objection by the House leaders will be made to:

The graduated surtax on incomes.

Special duty on brandy used to fortify American wines.

Free cattle and sheep.

Senate reductions on woolens, following free raw wool.

Free zinc ores.

Cuts on duties on articles accepted for reciprocal trade with foreign countries.

Additions to free list of dyestuffs, and reductions of duties on gloves and wearing apparel that produce revenue.

Republican Leader Mann tried to force Underwood to accept a house vote on same amendment adopted by the senate, Mann suggesting that these amendments might not be opposed by the Democrats. Underwood objected, and presented a resolution that all amendments in the Senate be rejected and sent to conference.

DROUGHT IN SPOTSYLVANIA.

Country Surrounding Fredereicksburg in Need of Rain.

Fredericksburg, Va., Sept. 1.—The drought which has prevailed in this section for a number of weeks has of late become alarming, not only on account of the great need of moisture on the farms, but of the fact that the water in the river is lower than it has been for years. Only a short distance above the dam the river may be crossed easily by wading and here is no flow over the dam thus causing great inconvenience to the two power plants. There was a decided rise today, and it is hoped that it will be restored to its normal state.

HUNTING FOR NEGRO.

Charged With Killing Another in Richmond.

Richmond, Sept. 11.—Caleb Ingram is a fugitive from justice and Isaiah Moody is lying dead in the morgue at the City Home. The two negroes engaged in an affray at an early hour Tuesday morning, and when the smoke of battle cleared away Moody was prostrate on the ground with a bullet through his stomach. Rushed to the hospital by Dr. Torregrossa, of the city ambulance, surgeons performed an emergency operation on him with the hope of saving his life. He died about sunrise. Ingram made his escape, and though the police and detectives of the city are trying to locate him they have been unable to do so. Officers Tanner and Smith got a glimpse of the negro soon after the shooting, and they called on him to halt. He did nothing of the sort, and when the officers fired at him he returned the fire, one of the bullets getting the cloth on the cap of Officer Tanner. The officers emptied their guns at the negro while running at full speed, and it may be that he has been struck and has sought treatment at the hands of some doctor.

Their wedding in 1901 was a society event in Ven Avon, a fashionable suburb.

In her bill of complaint the wife also declares that one of his diversions while she was sleeping was to pinch her and drag her from her bed. She further said that she never knew a full nights sleep when her husband was at home.

THAW ASKS FOR HABEAS CORPUS

New Hampshire Officials Try to Shift Responsibility

JEROME FIGHTS PLEA.

Slayer of Stanford White Appears for Fourth Time in Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

Colebrook, N. H., Sept. 11.—While Governor Felker, of New Hampshire, and Attorney General Benjamin Tuttle were doing an "Alphonse and Gaston" turn in the matter of Harry K. Thaw's extradition, Thaw went before Judge R. N. Chamberlain, in the Superior Court today in the fourth of the habeas corpus proceedings that have characterized his amazing "here he comes, there he goes" escape from Matteawan.

Thaw was represented by Thomas F. Johnson and Merriam Shurtleff, local lawyers, who are respectively the thirteenth and fourteenth attorneys that he has retained since he was arrested in Canada on August nineteenth.

Opposition to the writ was directed by William T. Jerome, special deputy, attorney general, and Franklin Kennedy, deputy attorney general, representing New York state.

In the matter of extraditing Thaw, at the request of New York, Governor Felker said:

"It is up to the Attorney General what we shall do. I will take his advice."

Attorney-General Tuttle said:

"It is a matter for the governor alone to decide. I cannot advise him."

In the habeas corpus it was regarded as very probable that Thaw would win some sort of a delay, but Jerome and Kennedy asserted that they were certain of having the slayer of Stanford White back in Matteawan in a short time.

Thaw is held on the charge of being a fugitive from N. Y., justice, the accusation being based on the warrant charging bribery and conspiracy that was issued against him after his escape from Matteawan.

It is certain that Thaw will employ every possible means at the command of the Thaw millions, to fight extradition and more perplexing intricacies than those that beclouded the Canadian legal road are expected when the prisoner is surrounded by his army of lawyers.

Preacher Elopes and is Jailed.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 11.—As a result of their alleged elopement from this city some time ago, B. H. Jeffries, a reformed Baptist preacher, and Mrs. Goldie Lowe, wife of Bert Lowe, were arrested yesterday and jailed at Bramwell, W. Va., according to a telegram received here by Bert Lowe, from J. W. Moore, a constable of that place. Mr. Lowe made arrangements to have them brought back to Clarksburg for trial on the charge of unlawfully living together as husband and wife

Jeffries was formerly a Baptist minister at Industrial, a small suburb, and has a wife and five children living in this city. Lowe declares he left his family in distressed circumstances when he departed. Since the alleged elopement Lowe has been searching far and wide for his wife and Jeffries, and learned of their whereabouts only today on receiving the telegram from Bramwell.

RECRUIT FOR THE ROADS

Negro Declines Work and Will Labor Ninety Days For the State

Among the cases before the Police Court this morning was that of a well-known Alexandria negro named Thomas Washington.

According to the testimony of officers and his well-known reputation, Washington has no home and is one of the indolent figures seen at corners in the western section of the city. A citizen approached him yesterday and offered him work, but Washington declining the favor, preferring to bask in the sun.

The accused was sentenced to serve ninety days for the State of Virginia.

After his case was disposed of Jno. Ryan was placed in the box to answer the charge of drunken and disorderly conduct. According to the evidence he became aggressive yesterday at a saloon in the northeastern section of the city and picked up a missile which he seemed bent on hurling at the proprietor.

Ryan was fined $5, and he was warned by the court that if he fails to keep the peace, he, too, may find himself at work upon the roads.

Supervisors of Alexandria County Will Take Action.

Although no announcement has been made as to further action against the Washington and Old Dominion R. R., on account of the accident last Sunday when William H. The board of supervisors have informally discussed the matter and at their next regular meeting on October 16th, will take steps to compel the railway company to place a watchman or an automatic signal at the crossing.

WIFE ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

When Confronted by Husband and Father Wife Resorts to Poison.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Celia Wolford, 20 years old, and pretty, who ran away from her home in Martinsburg, W. Va., and came to this city two weeks ago, tried to kill herself yesterday at 408 1-2 North 8th street, when suddenly confronted by her husband and father.

Though she drank a large dose of laudanum, Dr. Torregrosa, who responded with the ambulance from the city hospital, expressed the opinion she would live He instructed that she be closely watched to prevent her falling into a stupor, which might be fatal.

Mrs. Wolford had declared she ran away because she found life in Martinsburg dull and uninteresting. She had hopes of more attractive diversions here.

TO FACE SERIOUS CHARGE.

Graham Wilson Attacked Miss Mary Turner After Attending Leesburg Horse Show.

Charlestown, W. Va., Sept. 11.—One of the most sensational cases ever tried here will take place next month, when Graham Wilson, prominent in the business and social life of the county, faces the charge of assault preferred by Miss Mary Turner, a young woman of equal social prominence with the accused man. The penalty for the crime in this state is death.

Held in jail without bail, Wilson seems not to worry over his crime. His young wife, his father a retired Episcopal minister, and his brother and sister make no secret of the fact that they are in great distress.

Miss Turner, regarded as a devout Presbyterian and ardent church worker is the daughter of the late George H. Turner. She is a little woman weighing not more than 100 pounds, and retiring in manner almost to the point of timidity.

One of her most devoted friends was Mrs. Wilson, the wife of the man she now accuses. For years it has been Miss Turner's custom to spend much of her time at the Wilson farm, a beautiful strip of land on the Charlestown-Kabletown turnpike.

On June 5 last Wilson left home to attend the Leesburg, Va., horse show and Miss Turner was Mrs. Wilson's guest. On the morning of June 6, Wilson returned home and, according to the charges, invited Miss Turner to accompany him on a drive to another farm, where he was fattening some cattle for market.

Acording to evidence given before the magistrate by Miss Turner the two drove to a lonely spot on the little farm, where suddenly Wilson stopped his horse. Without warning she says he attacked her.

Miss Turner was semi-conscious when Wilson lifted her back into the buggy, according to her testimnoy. She said that Wilson then laughed at her, told her she would be a fool to attempt any exposure, and that she was only one of a dozen or more of guests who had been subjected to similar treatment at his hands, and that none of the others had told because of the notoriety it would bring on them.

Magistrate Galagher committed Wilson to jail without bail. Not until after the commitment of Wilson did Miss Turner's condition become critical. It was thought that even if she did recover physically her mind would give way, but a week ago she began showing improvement.

The feeling aganist the prisoner is so bitter here that already plans are on foot to make application for a change of venue.

FOUR PERISH IN STORM.

Relatives Make Vain Search for Will Barnett and Others of Party.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 11.—According to messages received here from Elizabeth City, N. C., a boat in which Will Barnett and his family, of Buxton, N. C., were making the trip home from Hyde county, N. C., just ahead of the hurricane last week, had been found floating in Pamlico Sound, bottom side up and empty.

Nothing has been seen or heard of the party, which consisted of Barnett, his wife, and the parents of Mrs. Barnett, and it is feared that all have perished.

Relatives, since the storm, have made search for the four missing persons, but all they could learn was that they had left on the return trip and the finding of the boat as described above.

SIGNAL LAMP HELPS GIRL.

Romantic Marriage of Miss Bertha M. Merritt and McCray A. Kennedy.

Clifton Forge, Va., Sept. 11—Miss Bertha M. Merritt, a pretty girl of this place, eloped with McCray A. Kennedy to Charlottesville yesterday morning, where they were married in the home of Mrs. E. A. Mayo, the Rev. Dr. George L. Petrie, of the Presbyterian church officiating.

The elopement was one of the most romantic that has taken place in this section of the state in a long time. It might have been termed in some respects a Romeo and Juliet sort of affair, for there were night watches and the signal for the girl to appear at the window.

Knowing that there were parental objections in the girl's home, the prospective bridegroom appeared with a signal lamp across the street, while his fiance watched at a window for a gleam of light to escape from the home, both boarding a train which arrived in Charlottesville at 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Miss Merritt went immediately to the home of Mrs. Mayo, where she spent the remainder of the night.

SHOT BY STEP DAUGHTER.

Matt Sadler, of Richmond, Badly Wounded.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 9—Matt Sadler, a white man, was shot in the thigh and badly wounded Monday night by Mrs. Ada Ridgeway, his step-daughter.

Sadler and his stepdaughter are about the same age. It is said that a package of clothing had been left at the home of Mr. Ridgeway for Sadler and he went to get it. Mrs. Ridgeway ordered him away and when he did not leave she shot The man is not badly hurt. Mrs. Ridgeway was arrested and bailed.

TO FORCE SETTLEMENT.

Virginia Debt Commission Tired of Delay by West Virginia.

Richmond, Sept. 11.—Dilatory action on the part of the West Virginia Debt Commission has resulted in a call for a meeting of the Virginia Debt Commission to be held at the Jefferson Hotel on September 20 at 10 a. m. It is stated that it is the purpose of those asking that this meeting be called to urge the Virginia commission to take further action before the Supreme Court of the United States to compel the payment of the debt, which that court has already declared to be many years past due. Virginia has been ready at all times to meet the representatives of West Virginia and compromise the interest claims, and to arrange for the payment of the principal over a period of years, or in such way as would not embarrass West Virginia but the lack of interest shown by the debt commission of that State, and by the State itself, it is claimed, will make it necessary for Virginia to take steps to force a settlement.

BATS INVADE SENATE CHAMBER.

Bats, a black-winged flock of them, invaded the Senate two days ago while it was struggling toward a belated adjournment in the tariff debate and created a small panic. The excitement was mainly confined to the press gallery lounging-room, but two bats, more daring than their companions, flew into the Senate chamber before the doors could be closed. Several women in the visitors' galleries made hasty exits, pawing at their back hair as they fled.

James D. Preston, superintendent of the press gallery, was the first to discover the intruders. They appeared in a black swarm, and for a moment Mr. Preston considered thoughtfully whether he should dive under his desk or lead a charge against the night visitors. He chose the latter course.

"Up men, and at 'em," he cried, startling into activity a dozen heavy-eyed correspondents waiting for the flow of oratorical eloquence. At the same time Mr. Preston waiving a copy of the revised statutes as a club, brought down the first bat. The correspondents, arming themselves with canes, folded newspapers and other weapons, joined in the fray. Cleaners carried out the remains of nearly a score of the creatures and drove out nearly twice as many into the sunlight.

The appearance of such doleful creatures as bats in the Senate Chamber may be a precursor of scenes on Capitol Hill two or three thousand years hence, when tourists will stroll amid the ruins of the American Acropolis. The massive structures of Thebes, Palmyra, Nineveh, Babylon and other great cities of other ages have long since become the abode of bats and owls, and when the onward march of men from the east to the west (begun after the dispersion from the Tower of Babel) shall have transferred capitals to Australia, New Zealand and other far-away localities, Washington may become as Carthage or Ephesus.

From present indications, however, the bats made a premature visit, and many years will doubtless come and go before the satyr and bittern shall move about the broken pillars of America's great capitol building.

DEATH OF MAYOR GAYNOR.

In the death of Mayor Gaynor a picturesque character, to say the least, has been removed from the sphere of New York politics. So many conflicting stories have been told of his life that it seems almost impossible for anyone not an intimate acquaintance to say into just what niche the late mayor belonged. Certainly his character was full of whimsicalities and he was as changeful as a day in May. Estimates of his ability and honesty have varied widely since his real entry in New York politics four years ago. He became mayor as a Tammany candidate but before his term had progressed far both the metropolitan press and Tammany deserted him.

The death of Mayor Gaynor leaves a complicated political situation in New York. He had just accepted the nomination as an independent candidate. The chances are that the death of one of the anti-Tammany candidates will strengthen the other.

The death of Mayor Gaynor just before the election recalls the death of Henry George who was also an independent candidate for mayor. George died seventeen years ago, four days preceding the election.

A TRIP TO OCCOQUAN, VA.
(Communicated.)

Misses Bertha M. Riston and Annie Devers, of Alexandria, Va., spent a delightful day in the village of Occoquan, on Sunday last, as the guests of Miss Florence Woodyard.

The young ladies were escorted to various places of interest in and around the village by Messrs. Samuel N. Carter, Jack Merrick and Fred Woodyard.

Much delight was experienced in viewing the picturesque village, centuries old, peacefully nestling twixt giant hills, o'er grown with gigantic trees and foliage, interspersed by the weidly beautiful Occoquan river.

Here and there unmistakable land marks of Indian origin, centuries old, vieing in interest with landmarks of the Civil war period greeted the eye.

Ancient brick and stone mansion houses marking by-gone splendor of departed ancestors of descendents still residing in this village, were viewed with interest, namely; the home of the late Mrs. Edith Janney, near the head of the Occoquan Falls, which was the former home of the good and pious Samuel N. Janney, who was closely identified with Occoquan.

Next within sight and conspicuously near the head of the main village street came to view the former home of William R. Selecman, used as Confederate headquarters during the Civil war.

Still further in view was the spacious brick mansion, the former home of William Selecman, a kinman of William R. Selecman, and a member of one of the earliest known families of Occoquan closely identified with the village. This home has in recent years been used as "The Hotel Alton."

The present hotel where the guests were entertained so delightfully at dinner was the former "Ancient Tavern," of by-gone years.

Janney's Mill on the Occoquan river which has withstood the ravages of years since General Daniel Morgan hauled iron ore from historic Colchester nearby, to the Ancient Forge, of this place, shared interest with the old iron forge and furnace.

Leaving the village for more romantic scenes the tourists wended their way toward the Occoquan Falls and enjoyed to its fullest the enchanting scenery of jagged rocks, deep caverns, dancing waves, clear lake and lovers lane.

After a delighful luncheon followed by boating on the Occoquan river, the visitors departed for home well pleased with Occoquan.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured.

"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gebhart, Oriola, Pa., that is not at all unusual. Angry Girl Routs The Navy Department.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Ignoring obstructions to navigation in the shape of doorkeepers and secretaries, Miss Norman Lee Johnson entered a straight course into the Navy Department and fired a broadside into several startled officials on behalf of Frank Lively, an aspirant for the Naval Academy who had been rejected because he was "underweight." The officials struck their colors and Lively returns to Annapolis to undergo another examination as to his fitness.

Miss Johnson is a private secretary to Representative Avis, of West Va., who appointed Lively to the Academy. In his physical examination the boy was found to be five pounds too light to meet the requirements. He was rejected and Miss Johnson became indignant.

"Five pounds, indeed," she exclaidem. "That's a mighty lot of avoirdupoise missing in an admiral. I'll see about this."

Whereupon Miss Johnson jabbed in her hat pins and set out to see Secretary Daniels. When she ended her cruise in the department hers were the only colors flying. The department had capitulated. Lively's fight for another examination had been won.

ECHO OF THE STORM.

Resident of Goose Creek Island Had Narrow Escape.

Newbern, N. C., Sept. 11.—With all other points along the North Carolina coast heard from with the exception of Goose Creek Island, Brant Island and the few other small towns in that section, there was much speculation as to the amount of damage which had been done at these places by the storm and flood of last week, which played havoc all along the North Carolina coast.

The first authentic report was received in Newbern when William Patton, a citizen of Goose Creek Island, passed through the city en route to Wilmington to visit relatives. Mr. Patton said that Goose Creek Island was entirely submerged and that the greater part of the stock on the Island was drowned. However, no lives were lost. The island was covered in from two to five feet of water and many of the buildings were demolished. At Rose Bay and Jones Bay the effects of the storm were much worse than at Goose Creek Island.

According to Mr. Patton's statements, not an animal was left alive except a few which the owners succeeded in getting into their homes. At Brant Island and also at Maw Point the water rose to a depth of several feet and the boats of many of the fishermen were either sunken or swept away by the tide and have not since been seen. Many of the islanders lost all their clothing and food and their condition is pathetic.

A consignment of food has been taken down from Vandaremer for the benefit of the sufferers and this was equally divided among them.

FENCE BUILT ACROSS ROAD.

Negro Men Suspected of Trying to Wreck Automobile.

Lancaster, Va., Sept. 11.—Philip Emory and Albert Smith, two young negro men, have been lodged in Lancaster County jail on the charge of building a fence across the public road leading from Kilmarnock to Kilmarnock Wharf, on Indian Creek, and officers are looking for two others, Carroll Hornsby and Ernest Waddy, who are said to have assisted in the work. The fence was built where there are deep ditches on either side of the road, and it is supposed that the object of the men in putting the obstruction there was to wreck an automobile. Some time ago, Walton Hubbard, a prominent business man of this county, while running his automobile on the main public highway, near Kilmarnock, discovered a plank across the road and stopped his machine to remove the obstruction. On investigation he found that large, sharp-pointed nails had been driven through the plank, with the evident intention of puncturing the tires of automobiles passing that way.

FIRE AT SUMMER RESORT.

200 Vacationists Are Made Homeless by Flames.

Salisbury Beach, Mass., Sept. 11.—A chill northwest wind whipping in from Massachusetts Bay at sunrise yesterday found 200 homeless vacationists shivering under scanty covering on Salisbury Beach. Clad in thin clothing men, women and children had stood guard all night over the few belongings they were able to rescue from the sweep of the fire that devastated the summer resort.

Heaps of smoking ruins were all that remained of nearly 300 cottages and seven hotels that were on the path of the flames. Rumors of coming arrests and a state police investigation were current. Early yesterday a squad of police arrived from Haverhill.

Officials were apparently satisfied that a second fire, which broke out shortly after midnight at the southern end of the beach was of incendiary origin.

Conservative estimates place the loss from the conflagration at $250,000.

ARRIVE AT LEONARDTOWN.

Washington Business Men Cordially Received.

Leonardtown, Md., Sept. 11.—The trade excursion of the Washington Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants' Association arrived here last night, making a record cruise into Breton's Bay, the steamer St Johns being the largest boat that has ever docked here. The 120 business men of the National Capital were met at the wharf by hundreds of citizens. Judge Benjamin Harris Camalier, of the circuit court, extended a hearty welcome to the visitors, and expressed the pleasure of the citizens of the town at the opportunity for becoming better acquainted with the Washingtonians.

The streets of the town, gaily decorated with flags and bunting, were thronged all the evening by the enthusiastic citizens, exemplifying in their personal relations with the visitors the cordiality and hospitality for which this old Maryland town is noted. From all sides came expressions of interest in the visitors and their mission.

Sol Minster's Band gave a concert on the main square of the town in the evening to which the men and women of Leonardtown, including many pretty girls, turned out en masse. Later a crowd of 500 persons packed the local opera house and enjoyed an entertaining and instructive program.

Throughout the trip today at Bushwood, at Old Stone Wharf, and the smaller places at which the boat docked, cordiality, interest, and gratifying promises of a continuation of the pleasant relations being established were heard on all sides.

After the conclusion of the program in the Opera House at Leonardtown, the mayor of the town and many of the prominent citizens were entertained informally on the St. Johns.

MARRIED IN ROCKVILLE.

Young Couple Fail to be United in Alexandria.

A Baltimore girl and a Washington youth eloped from Baltimore last Saturday night and were married after overcoming many difficulties.

The couple was Miss Margaret Ballard, 16 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Ballard, of Baltimore, and Frank E. Daley, of Washington, who were married after a hurried trip in a railroad train and a cross-country dash in a taxicab.

The matrimonial plans of the young couple did not meet with the approval of Miss Ballard's parents.

Saturday evening Miss Ballard left her home under the pretext of going down town with a girl friend. She met Mr. Daley and they boarded a train for Washington, arriving there at midnight. Mr. Daley previously had obtained a license, but owing to the late hour they were unable to find a minister. A taxicab run was made to Alexandria. At this place they also met with a failure, but not to be outdone, the cab was run to Rockville, where they finally found a ministers and were made man and wife.

Negro Drowned.

Danville, Va., Sept. 11.—Willis Holt, a nineteen-year-old colored laborer, employed at the reservoir which feeds water to the Riverside Cotton Mills boilers, fell from a concrete wall on which he was working into twelve feet of water Tuesday, was drowned while a score of darkies were yelling directions at him and throwing planks into the water upon which they hoped he might float until help reached him. He was found at the bottom of the reservoir three-quarters of an hour later, a searching party with hooks and ropes drawing him to the surface.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emey, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work.

I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.
